

Great ideas come from a number of places - including you!

In fact, you probably influenced us to produce the new on-line orientation program for home care clinicians and therapists. We heard you loud and clear...your requests to "help me stop the confusion", "eliminate passing-on of incorrect or ill-advised information" and for "tools to build knowledgeable, effective teams".

The result... a six-part Interdisciplinary Orientation Series which features Fazzi Associates senior consultants Rhonda Will and Cindy Krafft, custom-designed to encourage interdisciplinary collaboration between nurses and therapists...a must under the new PPS rules!

Rhonda Will,
RN, BS, HCS-D, COS-C

The Interdisciplinary Orientation Series is appropriate for both new and experienced home care clinicians - providing detailed explanations of all key aspects of Medicare's home health benefit, including: conditions of participation, care planning, patient assessment and clinical documentation.

This is essential information every Medicare certified agency needs to incorporate into its orientation program.

GO TO www.homecareinformation.net/collateral/viewstart.php?sekey=579 to view a streaming video of Rhonda & Cindy as they describe this series and their objectives for developing and presenting it.

Including the Interdisciplinary Orientation Series into your agency's training program is an easy decision - HCIN provides your agency unlimited access to all six programs for an entire year for one low price - including on-line evaluations, post-tests, CE credit and administrative management tools - all included in your subscription.

There is simply no better way to streamline your staff orientation. These web-based video streamed programs will provide your clinicians a clear understanding of Medicare program requirements - eliminating the need for staff to rely on unreliable, ill-advised and second-hand information that creates compliance nightmares.

Cindy Krafft,
MS, PT, COS-C
